The scientists behind this study wanted to know the effectiveness of a product called green green tea choose phytosome would be for the treatment of obesity.